ON WRONG SIDE OF ROAD.

Scotland Woman Driving Horse Which Is Run Into by Auto Driver Blinded by Lightening.

Blinded for an instant by a flash of lightning just as he was in the act of turning out to pass a horse and wagon owned and driven by Mrs. Henry Phinney of Scotland, George E. Anderson of this city drove his automobile into collision with vehicle, breaking the shafts of the wagon and one of the horse's fore-legs. Neither Mrs. Phinney nor Anderson or Frank Ferguson, who was in the car at the time, was injured. The damage to the auto was a broken wind-shield and a bent mud guard.

The accident occurred on the Brick-top road in Windham Center, about seven in the evening. Neither the car nor the wagon had any lights, as it was not yet time when they are required to be lighted.

According to one version of the affair, the team was on the wrong side of the road, and Mr. Anderson, seeing that he could not get by on the right, tried to pass on the left. At the same time, Mrs. Phinney turned to her right side, and they collided.

Mr. Anderson rendered all assistance possible to Mrs. Phinney, and sent for B. K. Dow, who killed the horse.

Effects of the War.
Local druggists and manufacturers are beginning to be affected by the European conflict, so many of the chemicals and dye stuffs are imported from abroad. The advance in chemicals ranges all the way from ten to one hundred per cent, according to notices received by local druggists. As in many other parts of New England, the manufacturers use many foreign dyes and unless substitutes can be made in this country, it is within the possibilities that some mills may have to shut down for a period.

MAJ. GEN. WOOD
Coming with His Staff from Governor's Island to Review Troops.

The militia war which has been taking place this week at the U. S. camp at Hampton was ended Wednesday when the Blue army won a decisive victory over their opponents, the Red army. The Blue army was composed of Troop B, Second cavalry, U. S. A., Troop A, Connecticut National Guard, Troop A, Second cavalry, U. S. A., Troop B, Connecticut National Guard, and Troop D, Second cavalry, U. S. A., while the Red army was composed of Troop A, Connecticut National Guard and Troops A, B, C and D of the Massachusetts volunteer militia formed the Red army.

With the army of the Red army stationed at Farish Hill in the town of Chaplin between the Blue army and the troops of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad the troops of the Blue army, in order to win a victory, were required to reach the railroad by some strategic maneuvering.

Stationed at Scotford they made a flank movement to Westminster, around Pudding Hill, then returning made a like movement around Farish Hill, where they met the troops of the Blue army. From here they had a clear field to the railroad which was the object of the attack, and shortly after noon Wednesday the Red army was declared defeated.

Great preparations are being made for tomorrow, when Maj. Gen. Wood, commander of the order of the Blue army, and his staff will arrive from Governor's Island, N. Y., to make an official inspection of the camp. Maj. Gen. Wood will be accompanied by his staff in the city of Willimantic, whence he will be conducted by automobile to the encampment, arriving there shortly before the close of the day. The troops will remain in Hampton until Saturday, when, after a grand review of the troops by Maj. Gen. Wood, his staff, and the Governor of the State, the troops of the Blue army of Massachusetts and Baldwin of Connecticut, camp will be broken, various companies and troops returning to their respective homes.

It was reported yesterday that all in camp are well, no accidents having taken place. The troops of the Blue army were injured on a motorcycle. He was removed to a hospital, where he was reported as having been only slightly injured.

Mrs. John Morin of Danielson sailed from Boston last May on the steamship Arabia of the White Star line to pay a visit to her parents and relatives in England. When last heard from she wrote from France, in the southernmost part of the country, saying that everything was going well and that she was enjoying her trip. Since that time, however, she has not been heard from, all efforts to locate or to get in communication with her proving unavailing. As yet no reply has been received to a cablegram which her husband sent a week ago asking her to return to the United States, and the hope of learning of his wife's whereabouts and welfare.

Rene Caron has been laid up with a cold.

All local fans will troop to the Danielson Cotton company's grounds this afternoon when the clerks of the town will play the town or play those of the northern side of the track. Last night great efforts were made to learn of today's lineup, but each man was so busy with his duties that he forgot the names of the players. However, if Jupiter Pluvius condescends to withhold rain until some later date, a super enough ball game will be played in the eyes of the townsmen, who will take place.

Always Kneeling.
You have frequently heard some lady loiter complaining because Eve wished the apple on Adam. And now chronic knicker complaining because Noah didn't save the flies when the supply was limited. —Athens Globe.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

SCHOOL BOARD DEADLOCK.

Six Members at Thompson Cannot Agree on Tourtellotte Principal.

There has been no principal elected for the Tourtellotte Memorial High school of Thompson and it is understood that it is possible the school will open in the fall without a principal. The school board is composed of six members who were at a deadlock over the hiring of a principal. A special town meeting was held in an endeavor to increase the membership of the board to nine and thus break the deadlock, but this was defeated. The present plan of opening without a principal is carried out the situation may not change until the fall election when possibly a change on the school board will solve the difficulty.
